Second, Great Britain and America

Second. Great Britain and America assume an almost indentical position toward the payment by the rest of Europe of their debts to the two big creditor nations. England and America will both be interested in seeing the proper measures taken toward disarmament, balancing of budgets and reconstruction. Irrespective of whether America ever joins the league of nations or any association of nations, the tendency in all diplomatic conferences hereafter will be for England and the United States to look at economic matters through the same spectacles. Third, the cossation of British propaganda for a cancellation of debts which has been going on for nearly three years will tend to ... move much of the distrust which has surrounded nearly every diplomatic exchange which even remotely bore on the European situation in the hast. Having swept aside all thought of cancellation and agreed to make payments, England will find a greater readiness on this side to examine future proposals for a revision of the German reparation controversy.

Fourth, the Turks who have been depending largely on the division of rellance on the French. It is a that American military or naval support is forthcoming or that the United States has become committed in any way to active measures in European affairs but the Turk is impressed by diplomatic words and demonstrations. Coincidentally with the satisfactory adjustment in London of the debt question with the United States, the American ambassador at Lausanne, Richard Washburn Child, said some pertinent things to the Turk which have already had a beneficial effect on the situation and may mean peace in the Near East.

BRITISH AND RUSS MAKE OIL TERMS

Black Sea Area Concession Is Reached.

[ET ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Moscow—A preliminary agreement ment for the concession, development and exploitation of 1,100 square miles of oil land in Gouria along the Black sea, has been reached between D. O. Robertson, representing British petroleum company and the concession department of the Soviet government.

If final terms are arranged, this will be the first English concession in Ruyssia. The field is located between the ports of Butum and Poli and centers around Ozurghety. It is an extension of the area prospected by the same company before the war and considerable drilling machinery is supposed to have been left there. According to Mr. Robertson, the Gouria company is independent of the working agreement of the Standard and Dutch Shell group against participation at present in the development of the Russian oil fields.

MOVE GIRL'S HEART TO REMOVE BRASS NAIL FROM LUNG

Green Bay-After going for 13 years with a brass nall in her left lung, Miss Rose Wendrick, 17, residsubmitted to an operation by Dr. John Minahan, prominent surgeon of this city, with a successful result. During the operation it is reported that the girl's heart was moved slightly and even stopped momentarily. tarily.
According to a statement made by

According to a statement made by Dr. Minihan, it was necessary to sever several ribs to gain entrance to the heart and lungs. By slowly moving the heart back and forth, Dr. Minahan declared, the organ was so tegulated so as to not effect its action, thereby making the necessary incision possible.

The girl is reported as being on the road to recovery in a local hospital.

HOORAY! SPRING'S ON WAY IF GROUND HOG FABLE'S TRUE

An early breaking up of winter. Hooray! Good-bye coalman. So long, worry. That is, if Mr. Groundhog is right. He camefout of his hote Friday and played around, greeted in the afternoon by snow. As the old adage of Candlemas goes, if he had seen his shadow coast by the current. his shadow cast by the sun he would have scurried back again with fear for another six weeks of winter.

Pappas in City — 'N. Pappas, formerly proprietor of a confectionery storé in Janesville, was in the city, Friday. He motored here from Freeport, Ill., where he is conducting a similar business.

143 Visits in January—Miss Hulda M. Andreas, city visiting nurse, reports 143 visits to patients in 40 homes during January, and in ad-dition, 57 interviews and 10 letters sent out. Taxl fare totaled $3.55.

WHY STOP AT THE VOLSTEAD LAW?

Dashing out of the house without stopping to department and others to repeal the Volstead law, the Eighteenth amendment and get back to where we were in 1917. All because, the Tribune says, the law is being violated and nullified by the people. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, also raises his voice for repeal and says we should do so because the Fifteenth amendment giving equal rights to the negro is being violated daily in the south.

But neither the Tribune nor the funny Mr. Butler go far enough. May we not-to use the language of the Jersey schoolmaster-suggest that the Tribune go farther and advocate the repeal of other laws which have failed for the last thousand years or more to receive the unanimous support of the people. Most of them are contained in the Ten Commandments. If the Tribune insists on being so meticulous it should go at this repeal business in a genuinely conclusive manner. These Ten Commandments have never been enforced much better than the Eighteenth amendment. There are thousands of men and women violating them every day, in detail and separately. If Volstead is to come in for so much of the Tribune's criticism, supely Moses cannot escape scot free,

For instance may we not—there is the influence of the diction of Woodrow again-call attention to the seventh commandment which in Chicago appears to lead the Volstead law in number of violations. The home city of the Tribune makes violation of that commandment fully as easy and more comfortable than it does the breaking of the | single standard. 18th amendment. It is often hard to believe from reading the majority of the stories appearing in the Tribune which have to do with the seventh tence of that inhibition at all. Mr. Butler, who was a candidate for the nomination to the presidency at the republican national convention in 1920, has perhaps never heard that this commandment had been written into statutes and was apparently in the same category of the 15th amendment. Then there is the Eighth commandment which Chicago has overlooked. Even the school board of the city, supposed to be the real start of the educational system has completely ignored the Eighth commandment, according to the Tribune.

All in all we are constrained to believe that the Tribune and the Society for the Return of Booze. and Saloons and Dives and Doggeries, or what ever name that organization has adopted for these purposes, has gone far affeld in searching for something to repeal when right at hand a solution of all the problems of earth and sea and sky, national, international, interurban and suburban, is much more to the point. There are just as many offenses against the law prohibiting adultery as there are against the law prohibiting liquor, Only it is harder to detect it-in Chicago especially.

Something like 30 years ago when an anarchist was a bit of a curiosity—they are less since we got so many faddlsts in government-a man named Gorsuch at a meeting in Cleveland said that what was wanted to make everybody happy in this word was "No government, no law and no God." What a speech that man could have made against the 18th amendment, the Volstead law and the Ten Commandments! 🕔 🗸

Looks as though our able legislature believes In an 8 minute day for statesmen.

v. NO CONVICTIONS LIKELY AT HERRIN. · Guessing what a jury will do is a greater gamble than playing poker with a Chinaman. It was perhaps a less supprise when the jury at Marion, Ill., the county seat of Williamson county, returned a not guilty verdict for the miners who were on trial as participants in the massacre last June, than as though convictions had been obtained. Trials are to be held for others charged with complicity in the brutal and inhuman murder of men near Herrin. Some one killed these men; someone or several someones cut throats, shot prisoners and murdered the helpless. But after reading the three articles in the Gazette written by a newspaper man who was interested only in gathering the truth, one is led to believe that there will be no convictions, no matter how many trials there may be and how many jurors may be selected. The terrorism of Williamson county is over all and above all law, and men in spite of

Value of Gold and Silver

Thy frederic J, haskin

Washington .- Before the war the people of the world thought they had a few definite principles governing human activity on which they could ely because they were so fundamental that not even wars could upset them. Their ideas con cerning gold and silver were among the most fix-d of these economic principles. Even when currencies and trends of trade and various other eco nomic arrangements were deranged, it still was thought that gold and silver, the precious metals, position from which the world could take its bearings.

The all-devouring war swallowed up even these ideas and we find plans being put forward providing for legislative steps to straighten out the difficulties in which gold and silver find them selves.

Gold is, and probably will be for centuries to come, the standard of values. Up to the war it had been almost absolutely dependable, its fluctuations being so slight as to give no ground for a change of system. Now, however, there is a whole party of reformers declaring that gold is not a fair medium of measurement of values. It s not likely they will succeed in their attempt to dethrone gold because whatever its faults as standard, no better one has yet been suggested.

The most acute trouble now rises from the fact that gold production has fallen off because of the high cost of production. Prices of labor and commodities have risen so high that their relation to gold has become out of joint. The value of gold is fixed by law at $20,67 per ounce. This price does not change because it is of itself the skandard by which all other prices are measured. The goods can. Before the war $20.67 in gold would buy a given quantity of food, labor and working materials. Today it will buy only about half as much, yet its own price cannot be raised.

This has resulted in a heavy falling off in gold production. Miners are discouraged from producing a metal which will only buy them half as much as it would a decade ago. In 1915 gold production in the United States was $101,000,000. In 1921 but $50,000,000 was produced. The min-ers said they could not afford to dig gold.

A bill is pending in congress intended to come to the relief of gold. It would place a tax on the use of gold in the arts and industries. Gold used for jewelry, dentistry and such uses would have to pay a tax of about 10 percent over and above Out of the fund amassed through collection of dress, the Chicago Tribune screams for the fire this tax the government would pay a bounty to the producers of gold. A miner producing $20.67 worth of gold would receive from the government about $22.72 for it.

A committee of experts appointed by the treasury and a committee appointed by the American Bankers' association have advised against such They declare it is unwise to tamper with the gold standard of value. The period of high production costs will be temporary, they say, and it will be better to let economic forces take their good time, unmolested. The principal reason however, why these experts have not been kindilly disposed toward the gold bounty plan is that they point out the United States has been getting imports of gold as the results of its favorable trade balance faster than gold ever was or could be produced from the ground and that therefore there is no occasion to worry about production.

esolution showing that as much concern is being felt over silver as over gold. His resolution pro-vides for the appointment of a federal commission which would study the subject of the deeline in the use of silver as a material for coinage, not only in this country but abroad.

This project is of special interest as being calulated to raise anew the old issue of bi-merallism. Bi-metallism is the doctrine of having a double system of moncy composed of gold and silver.
Both are standard, under this system, their proportionate values to each other being fixed by The proponents of bi-metallism declare that the system has a great advantage in that a double standard, with two measures hooked up together, is more likely to remain stable in ace of such economic ravages as war, than a tended to strengthen their position. Bi-metallism William Jennings Bryan was preaching bimetallism when he strove for the free and unlimited coinage of sifver. Not until 1904 did the democratic party withdraw this from its party plat-

The objection has been that such a double standard would cheapen both gold and silver and produce an inferior and unreliable coinage and currency. Practically every nation in the world has abandoned the idea and clung to the gold standard, at least theoretically.

/ Senator Nicholson points out that the use of silver even as subsidiary coinage has decreased measureably since the war and that the diminished consumption has embarrassed the producers of Eliver. He points out that not only has paper money been largely substituted for silver coin age but that the silver content of coins has beer decfeased.

Silver, normally, does not have a fixed price, like gold. As an emergency measure, during the war, congress fixed a price of $1 per ounce for silver, but this was intended as a temporary war measure. The price, of silver in Europe has recently been around 70 cents. Before the war the price was only about 50 cents per ounce. There is an ounce of silver in an American silver dollar. The proposed commission would seek to have the use of silver for coinage increased and also would seek to have the value stabilized. ternational conference to bring this about is pro-

It is certain that this winter and at coming sessions of congress the question of the value of both gold and silver will continue to be discussed with the possible result that some legislative enactment will be made.

Reports of the immigration bureau show that a better class of immigrant is coming to America. We have received 41,000 English immigrants in the half year since July 1 as against 42,000 in the whole previous year. 19,000 German immigrants have arrived in the half year as against an equal number in the whole year before. Sweden is up to the number of 1921-22 and other nations of Western Europe are sending additional numbers of desirable immigrants. These figures have had a considerable influence on the immigration bills presented in congress and it is quite unlikely/that any legislation will be passed this session-certainly none of the kind demanded by those who are clamoring for more cheap labor.

Chicago is watching for the big melodrama revival entitled the Lights of Lundin.

.Under the old form of government cities have been run by syndicates capitalized to help the members. That is where the bosses and a few friends came in for the graft and indictments occasionally.

INCOME TAX FACTS

NO. 5.

In the returns of married persons many errors have been discovered because of the failure to account for the aggregate net income of husband, wife and dependent minor children. For example, John Smith, an artisan, had a net income for 1922 of $2,100. His wife earned $1,400 as a stenographer, and two sons, 15 and 17 years old served $720 each as messengers. The example $1,000. as a stenographer, and two sons, 15 and 17 years old, earned $720 each as messengers. The exone, earned $120 each as messengers. The exemption is $2,500, the family income being less than $5,000 plus a $400 credit for each dependent son, a total of $3,300. Deducted from $4,940, the combined family income, this leaves a taxable net income of $1,640, which however, may be further reduced by deductions of payments of interest, contributions, bad debts, etc., to be fully explained later. fully explained later.

The one contributing the chief support may claim the $400 for each dependent.

The $400 credit for dependents is allowed only when such person is under 18 years of age or in-capable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. In the above example the sons are dependents because both are under 18 years of age. They have not been "emancipated" and their parents have not abandoned their right to the son's earnings, which therefore, must be included in the parent's return.

Chapter 6i
George began,
"Gloria says you have the inferiority complex, and I must help get you out of it."

Pan laughed.

What has been happening, to talk of it at all."
"That's just it, you don't—but you're learning fast," George said.
"Look here, child, I want you to get out of your present state of mind. These things you envy may be desirable, but they are not essentials circle who doesn't envy you lith a positively bitter envy—'"
"Why?" the girl, flung the word at him, almost like a challenge.
"Because you have something they haven't and never can have."
"What?" she was simply wondering now.
"Youth—simplicity—'pageness.

Pan laughed.
"What's that?" she asked.
"It's a highbrow way of saying that you aren't conceited enough, that you under-rate yourself."

"I know, Gloria tells me that too.
But I don't see what you are going to do about it. If I'm stupid enough not to be able—"

"Stop—that won't do, That thinking you're stupid,—is just why you never will amount to anything. Be-

"Youth—simplicity—innocence—sweetness—and a great deal of sense as well. And besides that, an eagerness to learn that they know will get you all the eleverness they build their own reputations upon."

Pan began to laugh.
"I do feel like a new person since I came to live with Gloria," she said more quietly. "A few months ago, in the country, I couldn't have talked like this. I couldn't even have thought like never with another in the many sides it's not true."

Pan began to defend herself, or couldn't even have thought like rather to defend her old ingrained this. I would have been so scared of you that I could not have opened

Pan made a little gesture to silence an interruption.

"And books! At least I thought I'd read. But I've read only the old standard sort of things, which all of you have read and forgotten. There's a modern movement in literature that I know nothing of, and writes of good things in the past that I never dreamed about.

"Gloria knows every character in history—or almost everyone it seems to me. She knows about old books, and old china, and old furture."

Shoes—Success and Happiness

Shoes that irritate end by making a woman herself irritable. You've met and done business with tritable women—you'know their unconsciously reduced chances of achieving success and happiness.

Escape that irritation which impulsively produces short answers, and causes people to form a wrong impression of you. Every Cantilever Shoe is made, like your own foot, with a flexible arch, and with a natural inner sole line, also with the trim rounded toe and the lower heel in style today. You Feel Better

No stiff shank cramps the free action of your foot. Your ligaments and muscles all exercise as they need to exercise. Your circulation improves; your 'wigor and endurance are increased; you feel better, and, naturally, you look better.

Cantilever comfort might well be yours in place of their ritations of ordinary shoes. Cantilevers prevent and correct fallen arches. They will add to your health and good spirits by freeing you of unnecessary irritations; they will help you to a larger measure of success and happiness.

An eminent automotive engineer said at the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute that the operator of a motor car would profit greatly if it would be possible for him to pick out and throw away all that portion of the gasoline that boils at over 410 degrees, as it has little or no fuel value in his machine and is the source of very many of his operating troubles. In other words, it is like the clinker in coal, which gives no heat, and by clogging up the furnace prevents the good coal from doing its

No group of manufacturers are served by such a splendid force of scientists and engineers as are the manufacturers of automobiles in America. For years these men, with great expenditure of money, have devoted a large portion of their time and brains to questions relating to the efficient combustion of gasoline and to the proper lubrication of motor cars, both of which are most vital to the automobile trade, manufacturers and

Very recently definite demonstrations have been made and some most important conclusions have been reached which are generally subscribed to by the leading technical men of the trade.

It has been proven beyond all doubt, both by the scientists and engineers of the automobile trade, as well as by various United States Government Bureaus engaged in similar work for the United States War and Navy Departments, that the high end point gasolines, now in common use not only make very difficult, if not largely impossible, any distinct advance in the efficiency of the future automobile motor; but are directly responsible for a large portion of the troubles of the present motor.

The trade can now be very sure that any fraction of gasoline boiling at a temperature over 400 to 410 degrees Fahrenheit, is not only largely valueless as a fuel, but it is a positive prohibition to the economic operation of a car, either passenger or truck, for the reason that these higher fractions cannot be vaporized or even broken into a mist, but enter the cylinders as a liquid, although they may have been previously heated at the carburetor or passed through a specially heated manifold.

The large proportion of material in the high end point gasolines, now sold to the automobile trade, which cannot be vaporized or broken into a mist, is largely responsible for:

Policy for Financial Betterment of Agriculture Sought by Leaders.

ment of Agriculture Sought by Leaders.

Intrasportation of the Wisconsin dairy industry for the purposes of more efficient merchandising of the state's products, was to be undertaken Friday afternoon when farmers, creamery and cheese factory owners, editors, bankers, the department of markets and the college of agriculture meet to determine upon a policy looking toward the financial betterment of nagriculture. Tentative plans call for an organization of the "Wisconsin Dairying Incorporated," a non-tock, non-prefit organization, having for its purpose the improvement of marketing methods. Three objects are definitely outlined by the proposed plan.

Better Market System
It would call for development of a better merchandising system for dairy products, which include organization, standardization, labeling, and advertising. It would assist state supported agencies, in organization groups for the production of high quality dairy products, and would tend eventually to secure to the farmers engaged in the production of quality dairy products all the financial returns over and above legitimate expenses of merchandising.

"Notwithstanding the fact that for years, Wisconsin has, worked zealously to stabalize the dairy industry by improving methods of production, by perfecting processes of, manufacture, by enforcing sanitary laws, and by developing refrigeration and transportation fucilities, dairying is not bringing satisfactory returns to the farmer," a statement accompanying announcement of the tentative plan said.

"There still remains the necessity and opportunity for, the improve-

Standardized Quality

To bring about this intended result the plan, calls for a standardized high quality named product properly labelled, judicious advertising to stimulate consumption, cooperation of all agencies in the channels of distribution, continuous supply of the product to meet the demand, payments of premiums to the producer for high quality products, and efficient cooperative commodity marketing organization to guarantee the daily performance of work necessary to fulfill and guarantee the preceding five points.

Under present plans the Wisconsin Dairying Incorporated will determine upon present co-operative agencies that could be assisted in their merchandising of dairy products. It will then select one or two cooperative agencies with possibilities of establishing a definite merchandising program and assist them in developing such a program. A goneral publicity and advertising campaign would be sponsored.

Flan Membership Fees

Flancing of the project would be made by payment of annual membership fees amounting for dairymen to one average day's milk in June, 1923 and 1924, and from bankers to be tenth of one per cent of the capital stock.

Immediate results are not anticipated by the group organizing the association, according to their statement.

"A constructive program, will take time before full results will be realized but it should be possible to show definite results along organization, education and standard eral merchandising program," the statement declared.
